adesso supplies T-Online portal with finance data

Dortmund, 11. March 2020

adesso to implement a new data back-end for the t-online.de finance section by the middle of the year. Ströer Digital Publishing GmbH, the operator of www.t-online.de , has commissioned the IT service provider to enable real-time link-up of stock market information using cutting-edge data interfaces.

t-online.de will be offering a more personalised focus in its content, with easily comprehensible financial information across all channels relating to shares, funds, bonds and ETFs. As part of the expansion of its finance section, t-online.de has commissioned the IT finance experts of adesso with comprehensive data provision so as to be able to offer a consolidation of the various data sources for a range of different purposes.

At adesso, experts from the former subsidiary smarthouse adesso financial solutions GmbH – a long-standing full-service provider of technical solutions in the financial market – will be supporting the project with domain-specific consulting, front-end development and operation of the financial data interface (API). A modern, futureproof back-end is to be implemented as an API data interface tailored to meet front-end requirements using the microservice-based adesso financial platform (afp).

Some 200 financial specialists from the adesso subsidiary smarthouse adesso financial solutions are now reinforcing the IT service provider's Banking division, following the strategic merger with parent company adesso SE. Leading banks, online brokers, investment companies and financial service providers will now be advised and supported in the field of IT solutions by sites in Karlsruhe, Frankfurt, Berlin, Aachen, Düsseldorf, London and Zurich operating under the joint umbrella of the adesso Group.
